Miss Booker's Success.

People in Richmond are always interested in hearing of the growing success of Miss Beity Burwell Booker as a concert singer. The following mention of Miss Booker, appearing in a recent issue of the Musical Courier, will be read with pleasure:

London correspondent of that publication says:
"Miss Betty Booker and Mr. Francis
Harford were heard last evening at Acotian Hall. Miss Booker, whose delighttian Hall. Miss Booker, whose delightful yocalization and artistic intonations are giving her a rapidly increasing regutation, sang with much animation three of Beethoven's arrangements of Scotch folk songs. Miss Booker was also heard in the Bach cantata. "Ich Gehe und Suche mit Verlanser," which was given with accompaniment of string quartette, the disparence and plane during the every aboe d'amore and piano during the evenaboe d'amore and plano during the evening. She sang the fine duet "Komm, Schonster, Komm," with Mr. Harford, both artists phrasing be especially good." The Musical Courier has also a very high meed of praise for Mr. Edward Johnson, who won such golden opinions during his appearance in Richmond several weeks ago with the Wednesday Club. The Courier notes the fact that Mr. Johnson is now in Halifax, Nova Scotia, where he has been singing his twentieth consecutive concert with the Boston Festival Orchesfura. Then follow highly laudatory notices from the press, both North and South, expressive of the universal appreciation felt by the many who here and elsewhere have heard Mr. Johnson's tenor solos and enjoyed his very ane work.

THE WORLD'S AGE.

By CHARLES KINGSLEY.

Other solections from this author, his portrast, autograph and hiographical akcetch, have already been printed in this series.

Who will say our prime is past?

Sparks from heaven, within us lying,
Flash, and will flash till the last.

Foois! who fancy Christ mistaken; Man a tool to buy and sell; Earth a failure, God-forsaken, Anteroom of hell.

Still the race of Hero-spirits
Pass the lamp from hand to hand;
Age from age the Words inherits—
"Wife, and Child, and Fatherland." Still the youthful hunter gathers Fiery jey from wold and wood; He will dare as dared his fathers,

While a slave bewails his fetters; While an orphan pleads in vain; While an infant lisps his letters, Heir of all the age's gain; While a lip grows ripe for kissing; While a moan from man is wrung; Know, by every want and blessing, That the world is young.

Give him cause as good.

SCHOOL EXERCISES.

Music An Interesting Feature at Onancock.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

ONANCOCK, VA., May 20.—The commencement exercises of the Onancock High School on Wednesday and Thursday nights were largely attended. The auditorium was packed both evenings, many not being able to obtain admission. The programme on Wednesday evening was given over to the elocution and music departments, and the performance of the thirty young ladies and gentlemen was highly creditable. Superintendent of Schools, G. G. Joynes, in delivering the music prizes to Misses Bertie Lee Wapies and Evelyn Walter, spoke of the fact that music case first taught in a public school in Virginia in connection with the other work. In Onancock, He said he had received many letters from other parts of the State asking of the work and that he was proud to answer all and tell them of the success and good results of the undertaking.

Thursday evening Mr. R. C.
